CITY TO CALL FOR NEW REGISTRATION OF VOTERS

The Commission Council in regular meeting last week directed the City Attorney to draw up all resolutions and orders necessary for the calling of a new registration of voters within the corporate limits of Bay St. Louis.

Such action was taken upon the recent ruling of the State's Attorney General regarding the calling of a new registration for the City. The opinion of the Attorney General states:

"Section 3222, Code of 1942, provides that if at any time the registration books of the county be or become in such confusion that a new registration is necessary to determine correctly the names of the qualified electors and the election district of each, the board shall order a new registration of voters to be made in like manner as in case of the loss or destruction of the books."

"Section 3768, Code of 1942, provides that all of the provisions of law with regard to the state and county elections shall be applicable to municipal elections as nearly as possible under this and later statutes this office has consistently held that the provisions of Section 3222 are applicable to municipalities and that the governing authorities of a municipality may call for a new registration where authorized thereunder."

Drive Safely on July 4; Be Alive on July 5

Highway Patrol will have All Available Men on Road; Motorists Urged To Cooperate

Col. T. B. Birdsong and Chief L. C. Hicks, commanding officers of the Highway Patrol, stated today, "We in the Patrol are going to do everything possible to make the 4th of July holiday period a deathless holiday on Mississippi highways. This is another of those long holidays, beginning Friday night, June 30 and lasting until July 5th, which is five days. All leaves and vacations have been cancelled for this period and every available officer will be patrolling the highways around the clock in an effort to prevent death and injury."

By July 1st all Patrol cars will be black. We do not want to make a single arrest, but traffic violations must stop. Speeding has claimed over 100 lives so far this year. We urge you to slow down now. The Patrolman had rather take you to the judge than to the morgue.

In 1948 for the period July 2 through July 5, the Patrol investigated 32 accidents with 6 killed and 27 injured. For the same period in 1949—26 accidents investigated with 4 killed and 24 injured.

For the 4th of July in 1948 there were 15 accidents reported with 1 killed and 13 injured. Same day 1949, 13 accidents investigated with 1 killed and 8 injured.

With the cooperation of all motorists and pedestrians, we can have a deathless holiday on our highways. Won't you do your part? The Highway Patrolmen are going to do theirs."

State Civilian Defense Groups Set Up By Wright

Lt. Col. Fielding Wright established state civilian defense council and five county defense groups but emphasized that they are not connected with development of atomic energy.

The fact that this step and the K-10 developments occur at the same time is purely a coincidence, Wright said.

Establishment of the council is the first of a series of planning steps which are in no way connected with the present atomic international situation.

By proclamation Wright authorized organization of county defense councils and in cities of 10,000 or more population municipal councils.

The state defense council is made up of the governor, who will be chairman, a chairman, who will also be state director, the attorney general, commissioner of agriculture, state superintendent of education, the executive officer of the board of health, adjutant general, director of public safety, director of the agricultural and industrial board, and the director of the State Highway Department.

County defense councils will consist of the president of the board of supervisors, sheriff, county clerk, superintendent of education, and mayors of towns having 10,000 or more population.

The mayor, city councilmen or aldermen and chiefs of the fire and police departments will make up the municipal defense councils.

Wright also directed the adjutant general to begin immediate organization of a state guard reserve of 1,500 officers and men.

STATE STUDIES IRRIGATION PLAN

Corn, Pasture, Forage Crops in Extension Plots

State College, Miss.—Widespread interest in irrigation in Mississippi and throughout the Southeast has prompted the Mississippi agricultural experiment station to begin a study of supplemental irrigation of corn, pastures and forage crops.

A field of 15 acres of corn, with 9000 to 11,000 plants per acre, has been fertilized with 200 pounds of nitrogen, 60 pounds of K₂O and 120 pounds of P₂O₅ per acre. Ten acres were planted April 27 and the remainder on May 25. The purpose of this unit is to study the cost of irrigation, the feasibility of irrigating corn under these field conditions.

Plot research is being conducted on corn, pastures and forage crops in order to get an accurate control of stands, fertility level, and amounts of water applied. These plots will furnish data on the most economical levels of fertility and plant population per acre to be used with and without supplemental irrigation.

Instruments have been installed in each irrigated and nonirrigated block to reveal moisture condition in the soil in order to determine when the corn should be irrigated.

Replicated pasture plots will receive different fertilizer treatments during the summer. Different rates and kinds of fertilizer will be applied to plots with native grasses and clovers. Other plots will receive the same fertilizer treatments but will be overseeded with white Dutch clover and others with Louisiana clover. Blocks of these randomized plots will receive supplementary irrigation while other blocks will not be irrigated.

STATES TO WIDEN U. S. HIGHWAY 90

Plan Work Between Pascagoula and Mobile

Pascagoula, Miss.—Mississippi and Alabama are preparing to widen US Highway 90 between Pascagoula and Mobile.

District engineer George Lemon of the Mississippi highway department announced that a new four-lane highway will be built from Pascagoula to the Alabama line.

He said the department hoped to have the 12-mile project under contract by January 1.

Alabama has announced plans for an estimated $2,000,000 program of improving highway 90 from Mobile to Theodore, and about three lanes from Theodore to the state line.

Lemon said the Mississippi highway department is considering building a high-life bridge instead of a tunnel under the river at Pascagoula. He said the bridge would be much cheaper than a tunnel, which would cost about $9,000,000.

The Mississippi legislature has authorized a toll system to finance a bridge or tunnel at Pascagoula.

Mr. Ragusan urged that Biloxians support the program for a community park for Biloxi on Ship Island. He said that such a park would be "self-supporting" and would be of much benefit in a recreational way to Biloxians and tourists as well as Keesler personnel.

FORD DEALERS LAUNCH NATIONWIDE FORD TRUCK ECONOMY RUN

This week the Ford Motor Company and Ford Dealers of America are launching the nationwide Ford Truck Economy Run, a comprehensive truck operating study that will cover a six-month period ending December 31, 1950, according to Fred J. Peranich, Bay Motors, Inc.

The Ford Economy Run, Peranich stated, will include thousands of Ford Truck owners all over America who will keep complete day-by-day records of their actual truck operations, including every mile travelled, every load hauled, every gallon of gas and oil consumed and total repairs and maintenance.

Joseph V. Colson of Colson's Seafood Market, Waveland will be the entrant in the Ford Truck Economy Run, Peranich announced. Colson's truck, a Ford F2 Express, can be identified by the orange and black shields which are mounted on all trucks throughout the nation that are participating in the Run.

Colson was selected because he has operated trucks in this area for several years and because of his experience and familiarity with trucking problems.

"I'm pleased to be a part of this big truck economy study, which will accumulate a large amount of facts and figures important to truck operators," said Colson. "Nearly every business uses trucks and of course, any study that might show how they can be used more efficiently and economically would be of great interest to truckers everywhere."

Every Ford Truck model, from 95 horsepower Pickups to 145-horsepower big jobs, and every truck-using vocation will be represented in the Ford Truck Economy Run in sufficient numbers, Peranich declared, so that results are expected to demonstrate not only the economy of Ford Truck operation, but to establish a realistic "yardstick" of truck operating economy for all truck-using industries as well.

It is possible that the study will reveal interesting facts and figures as to what models and equipment items are best suited to specific types of duty, Peranich added, and perhaps may indicate the need for additional new truck models, such as the Ford Parcel Delivery Truck, which was recently introduced in the multi-stop delivery field and which doubles the load area of conventional panel trucks without increasing wheelbase length.

Coast Hotel Employees To Receive July Pay In Silver Dollars

July 1st marks the beginning of the 25th year of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Hotel Association. This association is composed of twelve hotels covering the Coast from Bay St. Louis to Pascagoula.

As a stunt to create interest as well as to bring to the attention of the citizens of the different communities, that they may better realize the amount of money spent on the two rolls of the Anniversary, all employees will be paid in shiny new silver dollars. Arrangements have been made through the banks to provide $100,000.00 in new coins to cover the July payroll.

On June 29 the first shipment will be made by armored car to Gulfport, where it will be dispensed and on July 13 the other half will be delivered. This money will be given to the employees in tarnish free bags, 2000 of which were purchased by the Association.

So, if you run across a few shiny new cartwheels in your till, you will know why.

CAMP LIFE AT ST. JOSEPH'S

The children at St. Joseph's summer camp launched the three shifts during the week and called them the Sea Gull, Cricket and Pelican—the names of the three groups of girls attending camp. Each group leader as she pushed the boat into the water, had a lighted candle and made a wish. One day last week the campers motored to Gulfport and were taken aboard the "Fairy Queen" to Ship Island where they enjoyed the surf bathing. Each day awards are made for various activities such as archery, handicraft and games and at the end of five weeks those receiving awards will be eligible to draw for individual awards and prizes.

JULY 4th, 1950

On next Tuesday, July 4th, the people of the United States will celebrate the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration, proclaiming the independence of the United States, was adopted by the delegates to the Continental Congress, who met in some particular building in the city of Philadelphia, the state of Pennsylvania, on September 17, 1776. The Declaration of Independence is a document which has been signed by the Congress of the United States, and is a document which has been signed by the Congress of the United States, and is a document which has been signed by the Congress of the United States.

Largely drafted by Thomas Jefferson, the Declaration of Independence expresses the views of his own personal political philosophy. The Declaration asserts that men are created equal and that they have certain unalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Moreover, the Declaration states that governments are instituted among men and derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. The Declaration asserts that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as shall seem most likely to affect their safety and happiness.

It seems strange in this day to reflect that the Declaration of Independence, which proclaimed the principles of the colonists in their war for independence, does not express the spirit of some of the descendants of the men who fought under General Washington. Human nature being what it is, it is perhaps probable that there should be a large number of people in every country devoted to the established order, whatever it is, and however it may have worked.

Certainly, the writer admires the handiwork of those who framed the machinery of our Federal Government. But, at the same time, because we believe in the principles expressed in the Declaration of Independence, we find ourselves more tolerant of those who advocate changes, from time to time. However, in our opinion, the defects of our governmental system are due more to men than to the machinery of government and, therefore, favor no radical change in it, although we recognize that, from time to time, some adjustments are necessary.

In this connection, we would suggest that our readers celebrate the anniversary of the signing of this historical document by taking the necessary time to read its words. The reading will do them good.

THEY WILL WORK

Labor in this section has often been criticized, laughed at, ridiculed, and has been the object of many a joking remark. But from the Cry Hail this week comes news that might lead us to believe that all of this has been unfounded and uncalled for. A total of eighty applications for jobs are now on file in the mayor's office for work in the proposed factory if and when such a factory becomes a reality. And applications are coming in, says Mayor Carver, at the rate of from one to three each day. It is an indication, we believe, that our laboring people are willing to work and would work if employment was provided for them.

NEWSPAPERS GET THE LARGEST SHARE

The advertising bill of the nation last year amounted to $5,202,000,000, according to the annual estimate of Printers' Ink, a publication devoted to printing industry.

Newspapers, as one might suspect, had the largest single share of the total investment, $1,749,600,000, or about one-third.

The total for radio was estimated at $617,100,000 and that for magazines, at $512,700,000.

We pass no special comment on the figures reported but the advertiser who wants to get the most for his money can judge their importance for himself.

94% Chrysler-Plymouth Dealers Enroll In Master Technicians Service

Ninety-four per cent of the nation's Chrysler-Plymouth dealers have enrolled in Chrysler's Master Technicians Service Conference, according to F. E. Van Halteren, director of service, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corp.

The service conference is a special training program carried on in the dealer's establishment to instruct service personnel in the best methods of car maintenance, service, and repair.

Training materials are supplied to the dealer in the form of sound slide films, complete instruction guide sheets for group leaders, charts showing exploded views of the particular units under study, and reference booklets on each subject for each person taking the course.

The monthly training meetings are concluded with working demonstrations of the service functions under study and a questionnaire test on the subject. Complete records of each man's grades are kept in Detroit.

A one-year certificate is awarded to each man who completes 12 consecutive sessions with a grade of 70 per cent or better. More than 10,000 Chrysler-Plymouth dealer employees have already successfully completed one full year of this special training and have received the one-year award.

At the completion of a 24-session, two-year course, the Master Technicians certificate and lapel pin is awarded to qualifying dealer personnel. Nearly 4000 Chrysler-Plymouth dealer servicemen have received this award. The program is now in its third year.

"If," wrote DeTocqueville, "to console you for being born you must meet with men whose secret motives are always actuated by fine and elevated feelings, you need not wait; you may go and down yourself immediately. But, if you would be satisfied by a few men whose actions are in general governed by those motives and a large majority who from time to time are influenced by them, you need not make such faces at the human race."

Another sage wrote, "Look at yourself with your own mixture of good and bad desires, your inner welter of courage and cowardice, honey and vinegar, gold and clay, and when you go out to meet men and women remember that they are much the same."

Such wonderful words of wisdom could only have been inspired by men who had some speaking acquaintance with God. The words certainly make us alert to tolerance and understanding of our fellow men. We never know what dire circumstance may be behind a frown, what domestic stress may occasion a scowl.

Did someone fail to speak to you today? Perhaps she didn't even see you. We could all do better at remembering "that they are much the same."

I arose early enough yesterday morning to use the "morning" star! What a beautiful spectacle it was! It hung glistening and quivering, between two enormous clouds, like Grecian pillars! The atmosphere was almost eerie in its stillness and quietness and for a moment I felt like I was completely alone in the vastness. It was enough to reach the heart of the most hardened atheist.

Last night I watched the perfect half moon take its bow, after a brilliant performance. It was a long day, but a beautiful one.

Sometimes trees and things have more foresight than we do. I know a willow whose branches only grow "out"—they just droop on the side facing the house. Tree knows it could only go so far and then be forced to seek another course.

This may not be an original trick—I can't remember—but for years I've been adding a few drops of my favorite perfume to the rinse water when I shampoo my hair. The hair has a faint, pleasant scent for days. (Your operator will do it for you if you take her the "few drops," I'm sure). I don't understand why beauty shops haven't adopted the method long ago. One of my early suitors proposed to me one night. I was suspicious of the depth of his devotion so I asked, "Jim, tell me honestly—why do you want to marry me?" I was not quite prepared for this one, but his answer was, "Because your hair is always so fragrant!" As young as I was I realized that that was not a substantial enough reason so I declined. But, it proves what scent can do! Men love it. To them it sets the signal on femininity—and isn't that what they like about us after all? Of course, we use it discriminately, don't we? Almost subtly—but that's where your hair scent comes in. Use a few drops, too, in your last rinse water when you launder your dainty garments. Somehow you feel cooler because you feel so fresh.

I will be so happy when everyone ceases to make excuses for temperament and calls it what it is—temper. When the "Butch" era slips off to an unglorified ending. When women wear a kerchief over their pin curls in public. (There are none so beautiful.) When "if I had known you were coming"—and the rest of the painful statement—knots the rope around its own neck. When garden clubs give more original prizes and gifts. (The poor pot plant has been overworked—there are dozens and dozens of other things such as gloves, pruning shears, "frogs," bulbs, bottles of wax for house plants, trivets to sit the plants on, plant tables and a world of others.) I will be so happy when, before launching into lengthy telephone conversations while your food scorches or your bathroom floods. When invitations will be acknowledged in consideration to a hostess. When people stop making others feel uncomfortable by commenting on one's weight. I could go on and on, but I must remember that people "are much the same as I."

While shopping the other day I overheard two ladies discussing the cost of living and, concomitantly, the week end drop-in guest situation. They were bemoaning the fact that it was totally unfair and I could not help but agree with them. Then, just as I reached for a can of milk one lady said, "Then they add insult to injury by bringing a box of chocolates or a cake." This struck my sense of humor for personal reasons and I ducked behind the jams and jellies in order to smile unobserved. It's true tho, with the cost of food what it is it seems one could do without cake and ugh! chocolates in this weather! Why not bring along some fresh fruit or even an assortment of vegetables, a couple of whole wheat bread or 100 percent whole wheat for a dieting hostess? a jar of kumquat preserves would be a delight to her or several packages of frozen foods. There are loads of things you could present her with that would maybe, make her feel better at your dropping in. If all this presents a problem remember—you were self-invited and you won't have nearly so much trouble as your hostess will.

Twice recently I was referred to as "young lady." (I'll admit once was in semi-darkness.) It did something for my morale. (Especially after having been told previously that "it's a wonder an active person like you wouldn't lose weight." But it proves that we can give the "illusion" of youth by training ourselves to be alert and animated. When one calls you "young lady" for at any rate when one calls ME young lady! I'm sure they mean rather an inner youthfulness, a youthfulness of the spirit rather than a lack of actual years. But, it's nice, anyway!

I'm sure no one feels too much like baking these days but I am going to give you one of my original recipes which practically makes the whole meal. Add a salad and cooling drink and you have it. It serves four.

Prepare, boil, season and cut about two pounds of shrimp in halves. Line a baking dish with shrimp, then a layer of sliced onion, then a layer of hard-boiled egg, then a layer of boiled noodles or chow mein. Season this with salt and pepper then begin alternating your layers again until you reach the top. Pour over all a cream sauce with cheese. Garnish with hard-boiled egg and paprika and bake in slow oven until you are sure the onions are cooked. Cole slaw goes fine with this. This can all be prepared before time on one of those days when you expect to be out until the last moment.

Congratulations Odile Stevenson, I'm sure you'll make a wonderful president! You have a big job ahead, but I'm sure you can swing it like a veteran!

has very nose and what he decided to do and how he did it is said to make of "Saraband" one of the most gripping picture dramas of the current motion picture season. The movie follows the events faithfully, according to Eagle Lion Film, which is releasing the picture here.

Costarred with Miss Greenwood and Granger are Flora Robson and Francis X. Ray. The cast of thousands also include Frederick Vuk Peter Bull, Anthony Quayle and Michael Coughlin.

President Truman has issued an executive order giving the special Senate Committee investigating crime access to "any income, excess profits, capital stock and gift tax returns for any period to and including 1949." Income tax records are expected to be especially useful in view of the fact that many powerful gamblers and underworld characters have been meticulously reporting their income to the Federal Government and paying taxes on it since the late Al Capone, Chicago gangster, and others were sent to jail for Federal tax evasions after escaping prosecution for other crimes.

Starring Stewart Granger And Francois Rosay

'SARABAND' RECALLS FAMOUS HANOVIAN COURT SCANDAL

The famous love affair between the Princess Sophie, Duchess of Hanover and the dashing Swedish soldier, Prince Karl Ludwig, which kept two continents buzzing with scandal for more than a hundred years, is dramatically retold in the J. Arthur Rank Technicolor production of "Saraband," which opens at the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre on Sunday next.

Laid against the lavish background of 17th Century court intrigue and pagentry, the picture recalls how the lovely princess, played by Joan Greenwood, was kept a virtual prisoner by her debauching husband, Prince George Louis, ruler of Hanover. The film shows how she met Karl Ludwig, played by Stewart Granger, when he came to Hanover to seek a command in the army which was being raised to move against Turkey in 1699. It was a mutual love at first sight and at the beginning the absolute George Louis didn't seem to have objected too strongly.

It wasn't until George Louis was called from Hanover to London to become King George I of England that he thought he should do something about the love affair blooming under the SPORTSMAN'S TENT

by STANLEY FIFE

Let's not get all worked up about these war scares, don't go throwing your rods and reels away and go to pressing up those old uniforms you wore just a few months ago. You know, we have a big fishing rodeo coming up around here this Saturday, July 1, and we sure don't want to miss that, do we?

But now if you are anxious and farin' to go or if they simply come and get you, don't feel so awfully bad, there are odds of fishing streams and bodies of water over there in a place called Chosen. The climate is fair, with a low of 33 degrees F. in the winter and a high of 75 degrees in the summer; terrain, mountainous (this sounds good, doesn't it?); there is a rainy season of about 3 months that does make things uncomfortable with its 30 or 40 inches of the wet stuff.

As for the rivers, we can choose Han, Taedong, Yalu, Tumen or many other better ones for our fishing trips. And to top all this off, our summer vacation and trip abroad won't cost us a penny because the U. S. Government will furnish a nice luxury APA, food, clothing and our hunting equipment.

Just in case you're not familiar with the name "Chosen," the hunting preserve I'm referring to is more widely known by the name of "Korea" and it is not at all impossible or far-fetched to make the statement that some of these lucky sportsmen will "win" one of these wonderful vacations to the fishing and "hunting" paradise of Korea. I hear tell that if there are any winners at all, there will be thousands.

Now about the game one would likely find there; by far the most popular is the "Bear" in the northern hills, as big as barge balloons they are. They're huge, monstrous gargoyles of creatures that come lumbering down on any defenseless person with their claws of red fur glistening in the midnight moon. The season has been permanently opened on this North Korea game, especially when he crosses the 38th Parallel and descends on the sporting Southerners who have up to now kept the game for themselves, allowing no outsiders to enjoy the sport.

But now, at last, we lucky sportsmen of the U. S. have been invited to bring our shotguns and jet fighters, bowie knives and battleships and join in the fun.

To hunt one of these shabby red bears is nothing like any other sport. The procedure and weapons are simple. For one thing, you don't need dogs to go ahead to hunt him down; there are many thousands of this type of game for all the sport hungry men who have rushed at the invitation.

All you do is form your party (the ideal group being several thousand hunters) and line up along the 38th Parallel; wait! Look, there comes one now, ah, now ain't he a honey, a true specimen, just look at that fine coat, and those great powerful front paws (that is, I think they're powerful, they hang to his ankles); and look, at that long crooked snout; those fine yellow teeth and that pair of small wide spaced, shifty eyes (kinda blood-shot)—must be from loss of sleep, with the U. S. stamped on their butts—of their guns.

Now wait, he's getting closer, o-o! he has spotted one of the little Koreans and is going for him, blazing fire at every leaping step.

As I said before, the weapons are simple, all you do is sit on the appointed line and wait, and these little Koreans learn fast.

One thing you should realize about your game is they're almost human; they know you're not allowed south of the 38th line so they're determined to come anyway.

So this specimen, we're stalking now, comes beating the bush and panting down on our little friend—Now here comes the part of the hunt—just as he steps across the forbidden line he drops dead! Why? From pure exhaustion? Fright? His little-bitty heart was overburdened by the loud bellows, chest pounding and boasting of strength? Or simply because his amber hide was too full of Yankee Lead.

Washington—Everything is set for House action on a bill to give the state's clear title to the disputed tidelands.

The House Rules Committee agreed to send the bill to the floor of the House for four hours of general debate, Committee chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) said he protested the committee action, mean anything? because President Truman vetoed a similar bill about three years ago.

There was no immediate indication of when the House will consider the bill dealing with ownership of oil-rich lands off the coasts of Texas, Louisiana and California.

Advice to recent graduates: "The world is not looking for the bright young man—it is sitting back, waiting for the bright young man to show himself."

Bill Goldman, Roland Hodges withdrew Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, the ladies will meet with the idea of organizing a Women's Auxiliary.

Thursday night, our Juniors will have their usual "open house" at the Club. Thursday night is their night and we like to have a nice attendance.

Saturday night will be fried chicken, home made biscuits and square dance night. Do come on out for dinner, dressed in sports clothes.
